Hereby receive a short introductory of our valuable Partners and their Web page links with all relevant information about their core business.

Nestled in the centre of Durbanville, in Dec 2014 our store first had its origins as a Giant Concept Store. We had great success building which was then the first ever Giant Concept Store in Africa.

Having the perfect location and creating an awesome shopping experience rapidly grew our customer base and with it their needs. Wanting to satisfy those needs and stay on top of ever-changing trends, in June 2019 we decided to change the “look and feel” of our shop and re-name it to D'Ville Cyclery.

It has been received with great excitement and expectation from our loyal customers.

The change of name has allowed us to start looking at other brands that would complement our business. We will slowly introduce each new brand and trust that it will further build on what success we already achieved. We invite everyone that is passionate about cycling to share in our journey.

Introducing LED lighting products to a new industry (LED lighting industry) still in its infancy, even products of superior quality and specifications, is always an exercise fraught with challenges. Even more so the LED products of a new brand in South Africa competing with established international brands in the lighting industry.

Once customers understand that LED lights are 'green' products, that they have a 50,000 hour or approximately five-year life span which also results in a maintenance saving, the next test is to convince them that LEDTEK products, rather than the traditional market leaders, is the way to go. By providing comparisons between LEDTEK's products and that of our competitors and with the aid of live demonstrations, we are able to visually demonstrate the LEDTEK impact.

To introduce the LEDTEK concept and product range to the local market, they are embarking on an extensive campaign of print media advertorials and advertisements, broadcast media including radio and TV interviews and advertisements as well as maintaining a presence at relevant exhibitions.

LEDTEK South Africa's vision for the future is to be the acknowledged market leader of LED light products for all industries in South Africa and Africa.
